Hello my name is [REDACTED] and I am a student at Great Crossing High School located in Georgetown Kentucky. I am writing you to talk about my concerns with the act and education on equality in schools. I believe within my school and many others setting clear rules regarding how people treat each other is not achieved. I've been to classes where "treat others the way you want to be treated" is written as a class rule, but a lot of the time it's not enforced as much as it should be. One day while I was waiting for my bus so I could go home I was a bystander of a serious bullying issue. A group of 5-6 Caucasian boys were harassing and circling a African American boy. They were using racial slurs and laughing in his face like it wasn't offensive at all. People can spend as much as 19 years in school. Since so much of our lives are spent at school it should be a healthy and growth environment not somewhere where people are made fun of looking different. Any differences between me or one of my peers shouldn't be why they're harassed and I'm not.

With all of this being said I think there should be a requirement in schools to teach and preach equality on a daily basis to keep things like this happening. I'm aware bullying will always be a thing but by requiring equality to be in curriculum it will have a greater chance to get more of these stories out because these actions will be labeled as wrong. This will lead to more punishments for the students bullying and hopefully put an end to these horrible events. To me and many others these changes will mean peace and excitement. This will only positively affect our schools. Making equality a requirement to be taught in schools will help more students feel safe and loved. I truly hope this idea of better culture in schools become a reality. Please vote yes to help our schools.

Thank you for your time representative Phillip Pratt. Sincerely  r v

Dear senator Rand Paul:

I would like to make you consider letting high-schools curricular courses teach and bills, taxes, finance, income, payments, etc. This is a very serious concern to me and probably many others that around 83% of young adults do not know how to manage money. When you're a young adult I feel it would be crucial to know how to manage money such as taxes, and rents. This is a big worry to me, I don't think we should sustain to these actions finance & tax class should be crucial at some point in high-school. I am a freshman in high-school. One of my biggest worries is how am I gonna manage money. Mr. Rand Paul I would love for you to even consider my reply on this action. I'm am a student at Great Crossing High-School and I would like you to comply. The action of the letter to have a money management class.

Sincerely,

Dear Representative Damon Thayer,

I believe that women's rights and gender equality should be a topic that is taught in schools.

If gender equality and the sexualizing of women and girls is discussed more, especially at younger ages, it will help reduce the number of sexual assaults.

If boys and men are taught why they shouldn't feel entitled to a woman's body, they won't sexually assault or rape women. If men are never taught to respect women then they won't and nothing will change.

Instead of teaching girls to be scared and hide their bodies, boys need to learn to respect women. This change will lead to less rapes and sexual assaults, and a more peaceful society. I hope you realize that the best way to protect our women is to learn about this. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Dear Representative Andy Barr,

Abortion/reproductive rights should be taught in schools to better students knowledge on this topic. Some students debate that abortion is murder, but is it? Technically a fetus isn't a fetus until the 2nd trimester, and the heartbeat isn't detected until the 6th week of pregnancy. In other cases, childbirths can be very deadly for some women, not only for her but sometimes for the child to and without abortion these women could be in great danger. Then there are teen pregnancies. Teenagers should have every right to have an abortion because that is there reproductive right. Especially if they are victims of rape or sexual abuse.

I feel that if the decision to teach Abortion/reproductive rights in schools would provide resources for teenage girls not only that, it would teach students what reproductive rights are and how they can impact a woman's life. It could also teach

Students about sexual abuse and rape and how it could change a persons life.

Positive effects of teaching Abortion and reproductive rights are that student as a whole would have a better idea as to why these things (Abortion/reproductive rights) are needed. Another positive effect of teaching these topics would be that young women would have resources to look to. Many of my friends and peers agree with me that this would positively effect our school and would be a big change in the curriculum, knowing that this sort of topic has often taught in classes like health or civics even though it should be addressed.

My Peers and I hope that you can agree that something needs to be done. We are also hoping that you can be the one to help us bring light to this topic or better, help us make this reality.

Thank you for giving me a few minutes of you time and for reading this letter.

Sincerely,

Dear Andy Barr R,

My name is [REDACTED] a student from Great Crossing high school.
I say we should learn more about race.
Sometimes I get called name and say I don't know english because I'm hispanic, they also say I'm Mexican but; yet, they don't know the difference and just because of my color they think I'm from Mexico when I'm actually from Florida. Also other kids get called name it's not just me but everyone.
This will help me and others understand that color doesn't matter we are all humans we live and die. The only thing that change is the color everyone thinks that we deserve to be where we belong but it's better to learn different even though we aren't the same race we should treat them the same we should love others they don't hurt us. Hopefully we can think before we act. We can make this a better nation by helping spread out what needs to be fix and hopefully realize we can do better to protect our nation. Vote yes!!
